Craigville News

On Saturday, Sept. 8th, a very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. Sargent, when the latter's sister, Mrs. Ada Hogg, became the bride of F. W. Conger of Calgary. The ceremony was performed by Rev. B. W. Griffith, Minister of the local United Church, in the presence of a few invited guests. The bride wore a very pretty dress of rose-colored silk all over lace, her bouquet was heliotrope sweet peas and roses. After the ceremony, the bride and groom, escorted by the bridesmaids, sat down to a delectable buffet lunch, the tables and rooms being prettily decorated with roses, sweet peas and daisies. The large two-piece wedding cake was cut by the bride. The happy couple left by motor for Banff, the bride being attended in a dress of blue and white silk trimmed with black and gold laces and hat to match. The best wishes of their many friends are extended to them for a happy married life. Mr. and Mrs. Conger will make their home in Calgary.

THE WILD MENACE

The Editor, "The Times"
DEAR SIR,—As I am aware of the interest which you always take in the welfare of the community in this district, I venture to ask you for a little space in your paper, in order to remind the farmers that a very important measure of the year is approaching, when a battle must be fought on the land with the most powerful and dangerous enemy, the locusts.

The chief problem at the present moment seems to be the Canada Thistle. There are some fields in the district where the locusts are so numerous that they will eat the seed of the thistle, and thus ensure the seedling of the locusts in the future, giving it life it is impossible to exterminate this land.

In going over the district, which grows were being out this year, I found some fields where the locusts are so numerous that they will eat the seed of the thistle, and thus ensure the seedling of the locusts in the future, giving it life it is impossible to exterminate this land.

As now as the seeds start on the path in the spring, the locusts are so numerous that they will eat the seed of the thistle, and thus ensure the seedling of the locusts in the future, giving it life it is impossible to exterminate this land.

Remember that a little extra work will save much loss in the future. Thank you, Mr. Editor, for your courtesy. I am, faithfully yours,
J. H. BROWN, Editor, "The Times".

WEDDING

(Published in "The Times", Delia, Alberta.)

HOGUE—CONGER

A very pretty wedding took place in Calgary on Sept. 3rd at high noon, at the home of Mrs. G. Sargent, when the latter's sister, Mrs. Ada Hogg, and Mr. W. F. Conger, of Calgary, were united in wedlock by Rev. B. W. Griffith, pastor of the United Church, in the presence of a few friends. The bride wore a beautiful dress of blue and white silk trimmed with black and gold laces, and hat to match. The bride's bouquet was heliotrope sweet peas and roses. After the ceremony the bride and groom, escorted by the bridesmaids, sat down to a delectable lunch. The tables were prettily decorated with roses, sweet peas and daisies, and a lovely two-piece wedding cake. Later well chosen remarks were made by the bride and groom, and the happy couple left for their new home in Calgary.

Card of Thanks
